Allied Columns Aiming For Chartres And Orleans

AIR ARMY FOR THE ALLIES

Allied Supreme Headquarters last night announced the consolidation of its combined airborne forces in one command, approximating to an army in size and importance.

Lieut.-General Lewis H. Brereton, U.S. Army, formerly commanding 9th U.S. Air Force, commands the new organisation. Lieut.-General Frederick A. M. Browning, C.B., D.S.O., British Army, is Deputy Commander.

The objective of the new organisation, states the announcement, is to integrate and make more effective the large airborne forces at the disposal of the supreme commander.

In this command will be combined both the combat troops and the planes and gliders transporting them.

F. B. MacGarry, P.A. war correspondent, states: The consolidation of its combined airborne forces in one command by Allied Supreme Headquarters is, at the same time, the most revolutionary and logical development of the war.

HUGE FORCE

A Press Association air correspondent adds:—It is about four years since the first British parachute troops came into being, and glider units were formed about a year later. The first American parachute troops were recruited in November, 1940.

It was during the landings in Sicily that British and American airborne forces first operated together in strength.

—U.S. CLAIMS

AMERICAN forces yesterday began a general offensive along the entire left flank of their Normandy front, cabled Reuter's special correspondent with the U.S. Army last night. Between a mile and a mile and a half was gained in most sectors against determined opposition, it was claimed.

James Long, Associated Press military commentator in London, stated last night that General Bradley had sent his striking force close to Chartres, almost in the Paris defence zone. The Allied onslaught was rolling fast, he added.

According to unconfirmed reports, Chartres is in Allied hands. Chartres is about forty miles from Paris.

New York radio stated that American columns were racing towards Orleans and Tours.

Last night it was stated that Angers and Nantes had been entered, with slight resistance by the Germans, but across heavy minefields.

David Anderson, N.B.C. War Correspondent, broadcasting yesterday from Normandy, reported that American forces are now attacking Chateaudun, 25 miles south of Chartres and about 70 miles from Paris.

From Doon Campbell, Reuter's Special Correspondent on the Orne front.

Generals Dempsey and Crerar have linked up east of the Orne and, side by side, are rolling back Marshal von Kluge's divisions to the south towards Paris and south-east towards the Seine.

Three great battles are raging in the narrow triangle formed by Falaise, Thury Harcourt and Vimont.

As Canadians grappled with a Panzer S.S. division—newly flung into the fray—north of Falaise other forces of General Crerar's 1st Army early yesterday struck east at Vimont, seven miles south-east of Caen, on the main road to Paris.

Lunging forward two and a half miles, these assault troops came up against bitter opposition and they are now at grips with the Germans in the outskirts of Vimont and around the town.

TANK THRUSTS

Over on the 2nd Army sector three armoured columns are thrusting into the German defences on a broad front. East of the Orne one spearhead has broken out from the bridgehead area and stormed south to overrun a number of villages less than two miles from Thury Harcourt.

British pressure is never relaxing to allow the Germans to assemble their armour. Half the German counter-thrusts are thrown back by an immediate and violent barrage from hundreds of guns and mortars.

There is very heavy fighting in St. Sylvain, east of the Falaise road. There is good reason to believe that reinforcements are flowing across the Seine to meet the Canadian threat in this sector. Charles Lynch, Reuter's special correspondent on the Falaise road, states:—

Canadian armour and infantry, after beating off the strongest counter-thrusts the Germans could send against them, yesterday launched a full-scale, two-pronged attack against the defence line which the Germans have hurriedly thrown up five miles north of Falaise.

Mopping up continues in the Brittany peninsula. There is still isolated resistance in St. Malo. Resistance at Dinard is strong.

1,500,000 MEN

Guenther Weber, a German war correspondent at von Kluge's H.Q., reported last night:—

"On a front of 224 miles, 1,500,000 men are involved in a fierce battle. It would be futile to deny that the American breakthrough at Avranches has placed Marshal von Kluge in a difficult position.

"Coming events will show that the Germans are strong enough to stem a further American breakthrough attempt to the east, though it is of no importance at which point the elastic German defences will eventually halt the American advances."—(Reuter.)

"Retreat To New Positions"

THE German commentator, Captain Sertorius, wrote last night:—

"The defensive battle has increased in violence. Throwing in continuous waves of aircraft on the largest possible scale, the tank formations of the 1st Canadian Army yesterday thrust forward between the Orne and the Vire, driving ahead on bomb carpets laid by the R.A.F.

"Gains of ground were this time bigger than on the first day of the offensive, as the German troops retreated to new positions in order to husband their forces and avert a threat of envelopment between the Canadian wedges."—(Reuter.)

The appointment of Major-General Ralph Joyce as Deputy Commander-in-Chief of the Allied Expeditionary Air Force was announced at Supreme Headquarters yesterday by General Eisenhower. Major-General Hoytt S. Vandenberg has assumed command of the U.S. 9th Air Force in succession to Lieut.-General Brereton.—(P.A.)

Turks Shoot Down British Plane

Istanbul officials announced yesterday that an air raid alert early in the morning was caused by a British plane which was subsequently shot down by Turkish anti-aircraft defences. The crew parachuted safely. The plane was said to have been on a bombing mission to Ploesti.—(A.P.)

How State Pays for Upkeep Of Schools in North

IN the Northern Ireland House of Commons yesterday Lieutenant-Colonel Hall Thompson, Minister of Education, announced that the question whether the proposed Education Bill should be on the same lines as the English Act, was under discussion, and a decision would be made in the very near future.

Answering a series of questions, the Minister said that a sum of £1,934,894 had been spent on the building and equipment of provided Public Elementary Schools and the improvement and equipment of transferred schools up to December 31st, 1942. Up to the same date £510,700 had been spent on major alterations and improvements to 578 provided and transferred P.E. Schools, which were open to all denominations. Until March 31st, 1943, £348,782 had been expended on the maintenance and repair of provided and transferred P.E. Schools.

VOLUNTARY SCHOOLS

The cost of building and equipping new voluntary schools and enlarging, improving, and equipping existing voluntary schools, under Roman Catholic management, amounted to £170,852. In addition, grants amounting to £30,593 were sanctioned, but had to be suspended owing to the war.

Local education authorities had not made, nor were they empowered to make, grants toward the cost of building and equipping new voluntary schools, or in enlarging, improving, or equipping existing voluntary schools, unless the schools concerned were placed under the management of the statutory four-and-two committees. A few voluntary schools, which were under individual Roman Catholic management, had been placed under the management of such committees, and had received grants from the local education authority.

LIGHT AND HEAT

Having given details of arrangements under the English Act for defraying the cost of lighting, heating, etc., in voluntary schools under managerial control, the Minister said that in Northern Ireland, if a public elementary school was vested in the Ministry, it was kept in repair at the expense of the Exchequer. If it was not so vested it had to be kept under repair by the manager, unless it was placed under a four-and-two committee. Only one-half of the cost of lighting, heating and cleaning of public elementary schools could be met from public funds.

More Food Poisoning

A reporter learned last night that further cases of suspected food poisoning are under observation in the Clonskeagh Fever Hospital. There are now 27 cases of typhoid, enteric fever, and suspected food poisoning in the institution, the staff of which is working at full pressure.

Cork Street Hospital has under treatment twenty-three cases of typhoid and six cases of food poisoning. There is one case of typhoid in the Hardwicke Hospital.

Charm in Irish Life

Mrs. Livingstone-Learmonth

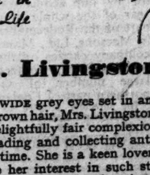

WITH WIDE grey eyes set in an oval face framed by lovely light brown hair, Mrs. Livingstone-Learmonth is the possessor of a delightfully fair complexion.

Reading and collecting antique furniture take up a lot of her time. She is a keen lover of an out-of-door life and despite her interest in such strenuous pursuits as racing, tennis, swimming, and hunting with the Duhallow Hounds, Mrs. Livingstone-Learmonth's skin is smooth and exquisitely flawless.

Her beauty care? . . . . Pond's Creams used regularly—although sparingly now of course because of their scarcity.

Pond's Cold Cream and Pond's Vanishing Cream could be more plentiful if the makers were willing to incorporate substitute ingredients in their manufacture. But Pond's long-established policy excludes this possibility completely and there insistence on rigidly adhering to their excellent formulæ, while making Pond's Creams less plentiful, makes them also more precious than ever before.

R.D.S. SHOW STILL A BIG DRAW

THE opening of the Royal Dublin Society Show at Ballsbridge yesterday was a study in contrasts. Inside the turnstiles, with the crowded pathways and packed stands, it was difficult to imagine that this was not a real pre-war show. Were it not for the fact that the main halls, usually filled with trade exhibits, were cut off from visitors, the showgrounds yesterday had every appearance of the days of peace.

Outside, however, it was a very different story. Anglesea road, with the main entrance, was empty of the solid, gleaming lines of cars. Instead, parking officials handed out tickets to cyclists, who parked their machines against the trees along the road. A few taxis were waiting, but they were not for casual hire, having been commissioned to wait for their fares. Cabs and sidecars, however, were willing to carry tired pedestrians homeward, and they did heavy business, for queues of people were lining up for the town-bound buses from quite an early hour in the afternoon.

Exhibitors managed to bring their flowers and plants to the Tea Gardens, where the Royal Horticultural Society of Ireland staged a mammoth show. The plants looked almost unreal in their beauty, against a setting of low-hanging foliage and rustic seats.

The display of vegetables proved that Irish growers must be unsurpassed, and the arrangement of the exhibits was a masterpiece of showmanship. Dublin and the surrounding districts by no means provided all the exhibits. From as far North as Co. Down, flowers and shrubs were transported and gained the Society's gold medal.

In the jumping arena the children's events aroused much interest. Here, again, it was a case of going early if one wanted to get a seat, otherwise the loiterers along the paths saw very little but rows of backs at the rails three or four deep.

The art exhibition and display of national planning also attracted their full quota of interested visitors.

Dublin Man Best Shot in Army Test

CAPTAIN LORCAN BYRNE, 5th Motor Squadron, won the Army rifle championship at the Curragh yesterday, snatching the coveted honour almost in the last minute from the favourite, Cpl. Cotter, 12th Infantry Battalion. A huge field was eliminated on Wednesday, leaving 21 crack shots to fight out the issue. Among the defeated was last year's winner, Lieut. J. O'Boyle, 19th Battalion.

The final stages were most exciting, and it appeared that there was going to be a straight fight between Cpl. Cotter, Coy.-Sergt. P. O'Connor, 25th Battalion, and Sergt. G. Cleary, 3rd Motor Squadron. Only the very shrewd judges paid much attention to Captain Byrne, despite the fact that he was scoring heavily.

The story of Captain Byrne's win would need an analytical survey of the scores, at each stage, of about eight competitors. He was like a backmarker in a race steadily overhauling the leaders; and, when the last stage arrived—snapshooting at a disappearing target—Cpl. Cotter appeared "a certainty" for the title. His aggregate score was then 200, and he could have made it 215 with five hits.

To the consternation of his admirers, he only got three hits, giving him a final score of 209 points. Captain Byrne, with 196, got five hits, and finished up with 211, beating Cpl. Cotter by two points. Cpl. Cotter was described as the "baby" of the competition by the announcer.

Captain Byrne is a Dublin man and has been in the Army for eleven years. He is a former 100 yards flat champion of the Army. Neither he nor Corporal Cotter has competed in this competition before. Seasoned shots like Sergeant Cleary, Company-Sergeant O'Connor, Company-Sergeant Cooke and Company-Sergeant McGrath will contest the other places in the competition as a result of a series of ties. Captain R. Deasy, V.F.A. Regiment, returned a remarkable group in one of the practices, putting five shots within a space that they could be covered by a half-crown piece.

There was fine shooting in the Vickers machine-gun championship, with the following result:—

Team Championship (possible 170 points)—1, 13th Battalion, 145; 2, 2nd Battalion, 142; 3, 25th Battalion, 140.

Individual Championship (possible 85)—1, Volunteer Murphy, 18th Battalion, 75; 2, Private Proctor, 13th Battalion, 73, and Private Power, 25th Battalion, 73, tied; 3, Private Farrell, 13th Battalion, 72; Corporal Collins, 19th Battalion, 72, and Private Clifford, 9th Battalion, 72, tied.

The Minister for Co-ordination of Defensive Measures (Mr. F. Aiken) and the Chief of Staff (Lieutenant-General McKenna) were among the spectators. The arrangements were most efficiently carried out by Colonel S. McGoran, C.S.O.

Three Rescues From Drowning

There was a double rescue from drowning at the springboard, Skerries, behind the "Captains," yesterday. James Nelson (12), of Dolphin's Barn, while swimming, about 120 yards from the shore, got into difficulties. Mr. Brian Durnin, the Radio Eireann announcer, immediately went to the rescue, and brought the boy in the direction of other people who also had gone to the rescue. By this time, Mr. Durnin was in an exhausted condition. Hearing his cry for help, Mr. W. J. Lauder, a Dublin dentist, swam in his direction, only to find that Mr. Durnin was unconscious, and entangled in seaweeds. Mr. Lauder swept the weeds aside, and brought Mr. Durnin ashore, where artificial respiration was used in the case of the man and the boy. They were later attended by Dr. Hefferman. This was the tenth rescue from drowning by Mr. Lauder.

When the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. P. McCauley, Church View, Strabane, was wading in the river at Bridgend, Strabane, he was caught in a current, and carried into the middle of the river. Peter Gallagher, Bridge street, plunged in, fully clothed, and succeeded in saving the boy, after he had been carried a distance of almost 100 yards. The child was unconscious when recovered, and artificial respiration was successfully applied.

Hengyang Falls to Japanese

Hengyang, the important road and rail junction in Hunan, Southern China, has fallen to the Japanese after an heroic resistance of nearly two months, the Chinese High Command announced last night. "The city fell after the defenders had been killed practically to the last man," the communiqué said.

Hengyang, on the Canton-Hankow railway, had a Chinese garrison of 20,000 men, who withstood the longest siege in the present Chinese-Japanese war.

Sixteen more Japanese vessels have been sunk in the Pacific, says an United States Navy Department communiqué. The vessels, which included one warship, were all sunk by United States submarines operating in Japanese waters.—(Reuter.)

Allies' New Italian Offensive

BRITISH troops yesterday recommenced their great offensive in Italy, after regrouping their forces, German Radio announced late last night.

British infantry, driving the Germans from all the high ground in the Arno bend, east of Florence, have forced the main body of the German bridgehead troops back across the river, states David Brown, Reuter's Special Correspondent at Allied H.Q., Italy.

Polish forces on the Adriatic have launched a new attack and captured their first objective, the village of Francavilla, a mile south of the Cesano River, and five miles west of Senigallia. This new offensive, which began on Wednesday morning, has withstood several counter-attacks, and is making good progress.

SOCIAL CRISIS

Six urgent demands have been made by the Italian General Confederation of Labour with a view to remedying the present grave social situation in Allied-occupied Italy, according to a Reuter message received yesterday from Rome.

The demands, which concern cost-of-living subsidies, employment, food distribution and price control, were made by trade union leaders, when they were received by Signor Bonomi.

Following immediately on the formal Communist-Socialist alliance, it is evident that strong and well-organised political activity is going on in Italy. All parties are feeling the pressure of the large number of unemployed — estimated at 200,000 in Rome alone—who receive no dole.

The unions' demands include one for Government intervention regarding works which are idle.

General Giuseppe Valle, Under-Secretary of Air under Mussolini for five years, has been arrested and interned by the Italian authorities in a round-up of 350 prominent Fascists, says an A.P. message received yesterday from Rome. Other arrests included Lugi Rosso, former Under-Secretary of State, and Gaetano Poverelli, the Duce's last Minister of Popular Culture.

Shaw, O'Casey and Carroll On "Abbey's" Decline

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW, Sean O'Casey and Paul Vincent Carroll, all of whom have had plays produced in the Abbey Theatre, have commented on the theatre's decline in reply to telegrams asking their opinions.

Messrs. Shaw and O'Casey live in England, Mr. Carroll in Scotland.

Declaring that "mediocrity must be the staple of all daily enterprises," Mr. Shaw described as "thoughtless" a question as to whether the attempt to found an Irish-speaking National Theatre justified mediocrity. Mr. Shaw declined to suggest how the Abbey might be saved.

He did not reply to a question asking him if, in his opinion, an attempt should be made to save it.

LANGUAGE POLICY

Declaring that he did not know what the Abbey language policy—past or present—was, Mr. O'Casey asked how the theatre could avoid the inclusion of plays in Gaelic in their programme, "seeing they get a subsidy from a Government that is free as well as Gaelic and Gaelic as well as free. There is no reason why a fine play (what some call a masterpiece) should not appear in Gaelic, though no sign as yet is showing.

"However good or fine a playwright might happen to be, however the Abbey Theatre might encourage him, it could never give him any kind of a living—decent or indecent. And, it seems to me, there will be even a less chance for a Gaelic playwright, unless he gets a Government job or a Government pension. Then, of course, he must write nothing to displease the powers or the nominees who place the powers there. There is the crux—for Eire. She will be, is now in fact, in the condition of control of thought so often attributed to the Socialism of the U.S.S.R.. It's funny."

Mr. O'Casey says there is a world movement of the peoples which will shape the world to the people's desires. He says: "Eire won't be even mentioned. She can go on singing her 'Song of Bernadette,' or listen to the champions of Catholic thought—Belloc and Chesterton, the present-day summer of Eire's faith. . . . What the Abbey does is a small thing. If Ireland can become freely Gaelic so much the better—that is singing bawdy songs as well as hymns. If not ——."

Paul Vincent Carroll, when asked whether he considered the present Abbey policy destructive of the theatre's heritage, replied: "Dublin's censorious, provincial and pietistic attitude is chiefly responsible for the Abbey débacle. The introduction of foreign puritanism has proved inimical to native art. Ireland has shed immortality and clothed herself in the rags of a bogus, bombastic freedom. Here lie the ruins of the glorious Anglo-Irish European tradition."

SENATE NOW COMPLETE

THE Senate is now complete. The announcement, late last night, of the eleven nominees of the Taoiseach brings the number of Senators elected up to the full sixty.

The Government Information Bureau last night made the following announcement:—

In pursuance of Section 3, Article 18, of the Constitution, the Taoiseach has nominated the following persons to be members of Seanad Eireann:

Sean Patrick Campbell, Dublin.
Dr. Robert P. Farnan, Dublin.
Thomas Foran, Dublin.
Thomas V. Honan, Ennis, Co Clare.
Sir John Keane, Cappoquin, Co. Waterford.
Margaret L. Kennedy, Dublin.
Professor Liam Magennis, Dublin.
Liam O Buachalla, Galway.
Padraic O Maille, Dublin.
Miss Margaret Pearse, Dublin.
Matthew Stafford, Dublin.

The only change is the substitution of Thomas Foran for Peter J. O'Loghlen, who was elected deputy for Clare in the recent Dail election. Last year Mr. O'Loghlen unsuccessfully contested the Dail election, as a Fianna Fail candidate, for the Clare constituency, and was one of two new Senators nominated by the Taoiseach. Mr. Foran, a former Senator and ex-President of the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union, was an elected member of the last Senate, but was defeated at the poll last week.

The next step will be the holding of the first meeting of the new Senate. This will be ordered by a Proclamation of the President, on the advice of the Taoiseach. The date is not yet known. Last year the Senate elections were completed on August 30th, and the first meeting of the Senate took place on 8th September.

Goebbels' New Measures

DR. GOEBBELS, Reich Trustee for Total Mobilisation, yesterday announced "essential restrictions in Germany's public life affecting the whole population." The statement issued by the German News Agency, quoted by Reuter, said:—

"The call-up age for women for compulsory labour has already been extended to 50 years. Another decree does away with sinecure jobs. Now these further measures for the total mobilisation have been either set afoot or are in the process of preparation.

"1—All foreign domestic helps will be drafted into the armament industry; German domestic helps will either be employed in the war industry or sent to households where they are urgently needed.

"2—Whole age groups of exempted persons, badly wanted at the front, will have their exemptions cancelled.

"3—Those circles of the population which hitherto have had little opportunity of taking part in the common war effort will be put to work on war productions in their homes.

CULTURAL LIFE

"4—Cultural life in all its branches will be limited to the essential detailed instructions already initiated; all the younger generation of German film and theatre actors will be sent en bloc to war industry.

"5—Further essential measures to husband labour in the fields of administration, railways, postal services and cultural life are in progress or in preparation.

"6—Public life must conform to the requirements of total war.

"Now, and during the coming weeks and months, every German will pull his full weight for the cause of the nation, and, of necessity, set his personal life more and more on a war footing."

The German News Agency, commenting on the new measures for the Press, film and theatre, said: "It is expected that, with the exception of the biggest cities, every town or city will in future have only one newspaper."

President Designate of Poland

An official decree appointing as President Designate of Poland M. Tomass Arciazewski was published yesterday in the official Polish gazette issued in London.

M. Arciazewski, who worked underground in Poland, arrived in London a fortnight ago.

RUMANIAN OIL AREA FIRES

THE Rumanian oil area of Ploesti was bombed again yesterday by aircraft based in Italy, according to the Associated Press correspondent in Rome. The raiding bombers numbered 500.

Allied Headquarters in Italy said that it was the thirteenth daylight attack on Ploesti from Italy; that bombing was done through a smokescreen; that fires were set blazing, and that there were some dogfights in the air

The German communiqué yesterday stated: "Enemy bombers attacked West and South-West Germany, and, particularly, Saarbrucken, Karlsruhe, Permaser and Luxemburg. German air defences brought down 33 enemy planes, among them 31 four-engined bombers."—(Reuter.)

Eight German fighters were shot down yesterday by Eighth Fighter Command Mustangs escorting bombers to France, while other Mustangs, Thunderbolts and Lightnings dive-bombed and strafed the German transport system. Nine fighters are missing.

The fighters shot up 18 German aircraft on the ground; destroyed or damaged 700 railcars, 126 locomotives and 81 military vehicles. Most of the attacks on ground targets were to the east and south of Paris.

German radio stated at midnight that enemy raiders over North-Western Germany and the Hanover-Brunswick area are heading for the Brandenburg province, in which Berlin is situated.—(Reuter.)

The British Ministry of Home Security stated yesterday that some of the flying bombs that fell in Southern England during the past few days carried small incendiary bombs—in each case about a score. These incendiaries were scattered by the force of the explosion of the flying bomb impact.

This development, the statement said, does not call for any modification in present fire guard arrangements.

Fighters, anti-aircraft guns and balloon defences all scored successes over flying bombs launched against Britain yesterday, the British Air Ministry Service said last night. In the afternoon Lancasters of R.A.F. Bomber Command continued the offensive against flying bomb sites in Northern France.

In one coast area in England two flying bombs were destroyed in the air.

The British Air Ministry and Ministry of Home Security communiqué stated last night that during the past 24 hours there had been two short periods of German activity with flying bombs—at daybreak yesterday and again in the evening over the Southern Counties, including the London area. Some damage and casualties were caused.

Dr. Karl Goerdeler, former Mayor of Leipzig, who has been named as an instigator of the attempt on Herr Hitler's life. The German Radio has announced that a reward of £50,000 will be paid to any person who can give information which will lead to his arrest.—(Associated Press photograph.)

GERMANS MASSING FOR DEFENCE OF EAST PRUSSIA

THE GERMANS ARE MAKING A SUPREME EFFORT TO HALT GENERAL CHERNYAKHOVSKY'S DIRECT DRIVE FOR EAST PRUSSIA, AND ARE MASSING AN IMMENSE STRIKING FORCE NORTH-WEST OF MARIAMPOL, 27 MILES FROM EAST PRUSSIA, CABLES REUTER'S SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

Their counter-attacks, he says, are evidently designed to lead to a break-through to the Niemen.

The Soviet communiqué reported that counter-attacks in several sectors were repelled, and announced advances on all battle fronts. 199 German tanks were destroyed and 61 planes shot down, it was stated.

John Evans, Reuter's Special Correspondent in Moscow, says that fighting in Grodno and Bialystok sectors is expected to flare up before long, and that Marshal Rokossovsky is winning more ground at the distant approaches to south-eastern Germany.

This is true of both the Warsaw front and the bridgeheads over the Vistula north-east of Cracow and south-east of Kielce.

On the Baltic front the Russians are closing in on Riga from the south-east and developing a new drive towards the important port of Libau. Further north Govorov and Maslennikov are believed to be concentrating their artillery for the next blows at the German fortified zones south-west of Pskov and west of Narva.

The German News Agency stated yesterday that Warsaw is "once again firmly in German hands. Polish partisans in Warsaw have been trying to rebel, and several of the groups scored initial successes. The rebellion, however, has been quelled."

M. Boleslaw Bertt, President of the Polish National Council; M. Osobka-Morawski, President of the Polish Committee of National Liberation; M. Witos, Vice-President of the Committee, and Colonel-General Rolajimerski, who took part in the Polish talks, left Moscow yesterday by air.

The Soviet communiqué detailed the capture of the following places yesterday:—60 west and south-west of Krustpils; 40 north-west and west of Kaunas; 50 south-west of Brolystok, in which sector the River Narew was forced; 30 north and north-west of Siedlce; 60 west of Sandomierz; 40, including the town of Podbycz west and south-west of Droholycz. Several places and a railway station were taken north-west of Rezekue.

The supplement to the Soviet communiqué said: — "Soviet troops, operating in the Carpathian areas inflicted a heavy defeat on Hungarian troops, and captured a large number of prisoners. Numerous groups of Hungarian officers and men surrendered to the Red Army."

North-west of Siedlce the Russians have also occupied Stanislawow, 20 miles east of Warsaw, and Kaheczyn, just over 40 miles north-east of Warsaw.

Japanese Cease Fighting on Guam

Japanese resistance on Guam has ceased, according to a communiqué from Admiral Chester Nimitz, Pacific H.Q.

American super-Fortresses have made another raid on Kyushu, one of the Japanese home islands, it was officially announced last night. The industrial city of Nagasaki, on the Japanese mainland, was hit in medium strength. An oil refinery at Palembang, on the island of Sumatra, was also bombed.—(Reuter.)

Farm Labourers' Claim

The position regarding the Co. Dublin farm labourers' claim will be reviewed on Sunday, when a delegate conference representative of the various farms will be held in Dublin. Talks will also take place between Workers' Union officials and some of the bigger farmers.

Roosevelt in Conference With Pacific Leaders

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has been visiting America's fortress island of Honolulu for military conferences and inspections, states Reuter.

During a three days' trip, which ended on July 29, the President conferred with General MacArthur, Allied C.-in-C. South-West Pacific; Admiral Chester Nimitz, United States Navy C.-in-C. in the Pacific; Admiral Halsey, who commands the 3rd United States Fleet in the Far East, and Admiral William Leahy, Mr. Roosevelt's Chief of Staff.

After a War Council he told war correspondents that the unconditional surrender policy of Mr. Churchill and himself applied with the same unrelenting vigour against Japan as against Germany. The war goals, he said, were to free the Philippines and to drive Japan to unconditional surrender.

Mr. Edward Stettinius, yesterday in Washington said that the question of the military occupation of Germany would be dealt with by the European Advisory Commitee and not at the forthcoming four-Power conversations on post-war organisation. He said also that it was not true that American soldiers had killed German prisoners in Italy.—(Reuter and A.P.)

Allies' War on The U-Boat

A JOINT statement on U-boat warfare in July, issued yesterday under the authority of President Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill, says:—"The number of German U-boats sunk during the war now exceeds 500. It is, therefore, understandable that the U-boats still operating are extremely cautious. Their efforts have been ineffective during July, a month which has been so important for the success of Continental operations.

"The number of U-boats destroyed has been substantially greater than the number of merchant ships sunk. Seventeen U-boats have been sunk while attempting to interfere with our cross-Channel traffic since the first landing of the Army of Liberation. The U-boat fleet is still of impressive size; nevertheless the U-boat remains the hunted rather than the hunters. They have been attacked from the Arctic to the Indian Ocean, aircraft playing a great part with the surface forces. This pressure will be maintained until all chances of revival of the U-boat campaign are killed, whatever may be the new devices and methods developed by the enemy.

"The Nazi claims of sinkings continue to be grossly exaggerated. For instance, their claim for June, the latest month for which complete figures are available, was an exaggeration of a thousand per cent."

Russian Amnesty.—Moscow radio announced this morning that the Supreme Council of the U.S.S.R. has issued a decree granting an amnesty to all Polish citizens sentenced for crimes committed within the U.S.S.R.—(Reuter.)

OF CHIMNEY FIRES FROM USE OF TURF OR WOOD

HINTS TO HOUSEHOLDERS

Fires in chimneys burning turf or wood are much more dangerous than those formerly experienced when coal was used. They should not be left to burn themselves out, because there is serious risk of setting the house on fire.

PREVENTION OF CHIMNEY FIRES

1. Keep the portion of the flue for a few feet above the grate clean and free from deposit. This can usually be done with a short-handled flue or range brush when cleaning out the grate itself, and should be done at least once a week.
2. Have the flues cleaned by a Sweep twice as often as with coal.
3. Keep the fuel in the grate burning as brightly as possible. Smouldering fires tend to produce tar and soot.
4. Have grates, hearths and flues inspected to make sure that they are properly installed and in good order, and that there is at least 4" of concrete, brickwork or masonry underneath the hearth.

EXTINGUISHING CHIMNEY FIRES

1. Completely remove from the grate the fire, live ashes and burning soot.
2. If a stirrup hand pump is available, tie the nozzle to a broom handle, or short length of stick, and push it a short way up the chimney. Pump the water and use the jet, not the spray, to put out the fire. Protect the hand and forearm against falling sparks by a damp sack or cloth.
3. If a stirrup hand pump is not available, a soda-acid or foam type fire extinguisher will be equally effective. Direct the jet from the extinguisher up the chimney, and protect the hand and forearm against falling sparks by a damp sack or cloth.
4. If neither a stirrup hand pump nor a suitable fire extinguisher is available, splash small quantities of water from a bucket with your cupped hands on to the hot hearth and fire-bricks at the rear of the grate. This will cause steam and smoke to rise and smother the fire.
5. If in any doubt or difficulty, send for your local Fire Brigade.

GENERAL FIRE PREVENTION

1. Do not leave turf or wood around the fire, especially during the night.
2. Turf or wood ash, when removed, should be placed outdoors in an ash pit, or in a proper metal ash bin, fitted with a lid, and resting on a concrete or stone surface. Timber or cardboard boxes, or any receptacles made of inflammable materials, should never be used for turf or wood ashes.
3. Great care should be taken that cigarette ends, matches, etc., are not thrown on to turf stores. Buildings or bins in which turf is stored should be kept in a clean condition.

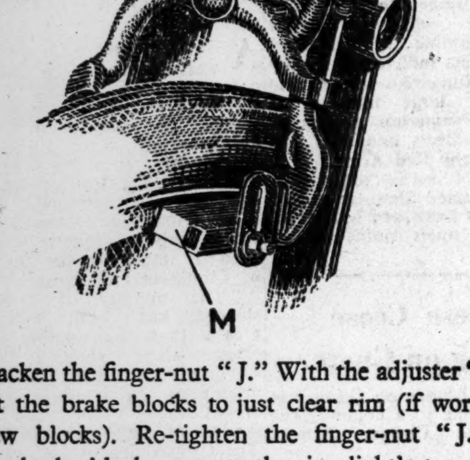

TWO USEFUL BOOKLETS, "The use of Turf in Industrial Installations" and "The Use of Turf as a Domestic Fuel." Obtainable from all Newsagents and Booksellers. PRICE, 3d. each.

No. 1 CALIPER BRAKES

Slacken the finger-nut "J." With the adjuster "K" set the brake blocks to just clear rim (if worn, fit new blocks). Re-tighten the finger-nut "J." If one brake block contacts the rim, lightly tap down the opposite side coil "L" of the brake spring, until clearance is equi-distant. Set the brake blocks "M" to contact the rims so that they do not touch the tyre walls when brake is applied.

What should one wear on HOLIDAYS?

Obviously tastes will differ, though all will agree that holiday wear should be, above all else, comfortable. It should be, also, sturdy and serviceable—and it ought to be stylish, too. Whether you're 'fussy' about clothes or not the best place to get your holiday kit is at Seale's, where comfort, style, and value-for-money meet. Here are a few suggestions:

Sports Coats in tweed and homespun, from 95/-.
Tweed Slacks, in becoming greys and mixtures, 69/6.
Collar-attached Shirts, in union flannel, 24/6.
Ties—a really extensive selection in gay holiday designs, and quiet ones, too.

View of the Army Swimming Bath at the Curragh—the finest of its kind in the country. It was originally a hole in the ground which provided on open-air plunge.

ARMY MAY REVIVE IRISH SWIMMING

By P. D. MacWEENEY

THE Irish Amateur Swimming Association have "rung the bell" again, their championship gala last week-end being such a success that, for the first time, the doors at Blackrock Baths had to be closed on Saturday afternoon. The second session, on Monday morning, was also packed out, and this is a real instance of enterprise and efficiency being rewarded.

The swimming authorities have studied the needs of the spectators and have evolved a system—unlike so many other sporting organisations in this country—of running their events with the minimum of delay. One race follows another with lightning precision, there are no irritating delays, and, above all, there is an excellent official at the microphone in the person of Mr. Boyd.

No spectator, either on Saturday or Monday, could complain about lack of information, and the wisdom of providing these amenities has been proved to the hilt—in fine weather the quite considerable accommodation at Blackrock is hardly adequate now, and will be even less so in the future. One of the most interesting features of the two days was the life-saving demonstration given by a squad of seventy army swimmers from the Curragh, and this was accompanied by a most lucid commentary given by Mr. K. McCullough, another of the I.A.S.A. officials.

KEY TO THE FUTURE

Now here, it seems to me, we have the key to the whole future of Irish swimming. This war has shown that the ability to swim should be part of the make-up of any modern soldier, and for some years past the Curragh Command have been improving on the legacy left by the British forces stationed there—a hole in the ground which provided an open-air plunge.

By dint of hard and properly-applied work the Curragh Camp now possesses the best-equipped indoor bath in the country, forty yards long by twelve yards wide, and even in the two years during which swimming has been regarded as a serious part of military training, the results have been more than satisfactory.

Last Saturday, as I have said, seventy men jumped into Blackrock Baths and gave a most impressive display of life-saving methods—and to be able to do this requires a high degree of swimming ability, as well as complete confidence in the water. The instructor is Sergeant G. Broderick, a Belfast man, who was a member of the Clonard Club at a period when it dominated Irish swimming and water-polo.

I had a chat with Sergeant Broderick at Blackrock, and he told me that quite a number of the men were either complete novices or non-swimmers from inland districts when he took them in hand. The Curragh swimmers have won 400 life-saving certificates so far, and the Army authorities are beginning to take an increasingly active interest in this branch of training.

All this is bound to result in the spread of swimming throughout the country, inwards from the coast-line. It seems highly probable that other military camps and barracks will build indoor baths, while those soldiers who have learnt to swim like experts, and who have been accustomed to the exercise almost daily, will be loath to give it up when they return to civilian life, if, as is the case in nearly all Irish villages and towns, there is no provision for swimming. It may take years to spread the value and pleasure of swimming in the inland districts, but it seems bound to get there in the end.

FUTURE RECORD-BREAKER

The performances of Miss K. McNally show what can be done by an intelligent coach with the right material. Miss McNally, a daughter of the Commanding Officer at the Curragh, Colonel McNally, has been training as a competitive swimmer for only two years, yet she is now the leading woman at this sport in Ireland, and, only sixteen years of age, must surely set up new records in the next two or three seasons. She provides a clear demonstration of the necessity for all-the-year-round training, and the same remark can be applied to the men's events—the Belfast competitors, W. J. A. Lowry, W. H. K. Bell, W. McClatchey and J. Gilmore, sweeping the boards from 100 yards to 880 yards, both free-style and breast and back-stroke.

These men have all practised indoors in the winter and early spring, whereas the Dubliner is confined to the few weeks of summer. Apart from Eddie Heron, the diving champion, Dublin swimmers, under present conditions, will take a very back seat in the Irish championships of the future, even though they may be always held in this city.

No records were set up in this year's championship meeting, but it marked promise of a brighter future for the sport here than anyone could have believed likely in 1939.

TWO ARMY TITLES

Four Army swim titles were won by members of the Curragh Command, two by Pte. D. Corbett, of the 2nd Brigade, and two Army records set up, in the championships at the Curragh Pool yesterday. The records were in the 220 yards (free style) and squadron.

100 Yards (free style)—Lieut. J. Coffey (Curragh Command), 1; Pte. D. Corbett (2nd Bde.), 2; Lieut. D. O'Neill (Curragh Command), 3. 63 2-5 secs. Touch; 1 yd.

100 Yards (back stroke)—Pte. P. McDermott (Curragh Command), 1; Capt. F. Halton (6th Bde.), 2; Pte. P. McGannity (do.), 3. 2 yds.; easy. 89 1-5 secs.

100 Yards (breast stroke)—Sgt. G. Broderick (Curragh Command), 1; Lieut. J. Bowen (do.), 2; Seaman M. Duffy (No. 2 Form. E.C.), 3. 1 yd.; 2 yds. 85 2-5 secs.

220 Yards (free style)—Pte. Corbett, 1; Lieut. J. Coffey, 2; Pte. T. Bowman (Curragh), 3. 2 mins. 45 secs. (Army record.)

440 Yards (free style)—Pte. Corbett, 1; Lieut. J. Coffey, 2; Lieut. J. Boles (1st Bde.), 3. Easy. 6 mins. 5 1-5 secs.

Squadron (3 x 80)—Curragh Command (Ptes. P. McDermott, T. Bowman, Lieut. J. Coffey), 1; 8th Bde., 2; 2nd Bde., 3. Easy; 1 yd. 2 mins. 36 3-5 secs. (Army record.)

A WELCOME VISITOR

D. C. Coombe, the New Zealand Davis Cup player, and a frequent and popular visitor to pre-war Dublin tennis tournaments, will play in the Co. Wicklow championships at Bray next week. In 1939, Coombe was defeated in the singles final at Bray by R. F. Egan, but won the men's and mixed doubles. Even though he is short of practice, he will add interest to next's week's tournament.

QUEEN'S STILL CHAMPIONS

Queen's University retained the inter-'Varsity water polo championship at Blackrock Baths yesterday, defeating Dublin University by 5-2. Their scorers were W. J. Lowry (3) and C. McLarnon (2). R. Armstrong and J. Doyle scored for Dublin University.

In the preliminary matches on Wednesday Queen's beat U.C.D. 5-0, and U.C.D. beat Dublin University 5-3.

M. Feddis (U.C.D.) won the springboard diving championship on Wednesday with 103.8 points. J. Lenfesty (Queen's) was second with 102.8 points.

High Board Diving Championship—N. Feddis, 149.8 pts., 1; J. Lenfesty, 130.3 pts., 2; E. O. Mullane (U.C.C.), 117.2 pts., 3.

Ladies' Springboard Diving Championship—A. E. Sedgwick (D.U.), 98.2 pts., 1; M. Lynas (Queen's), 95.5 pts., 2; I. McCaughey (do.), 84.1 pts., 3.

CRICKET LEAGUE LEADERS ARE TAKING A CHANCE

WITH Leinster holding the strongest position in the Senior Cricket League at the moment, their match against Merrion at Anglesea road to-morrow is the most important on the programme. The leaders will be below full strength, as P. C. Mannion, J. R. Gill and F. W. Fox will be absentees, but N. H. Lambert, who did not turn out, as anticipated, against Phœnix last week-end, is down to play. However, after an absence of almost two months, he may not strike form straight away.

In recent weeks the Merrion batting has improved out of all knowledge, but their bowling on fast wickets is not too strong. Still, they may well worry Leinster considerably if they win the toss and run up a big total. The Leinster attack is also very thin, depending, as it does, so largely on W. Hodgson's left-hand slows.

Five points behind Leinster, with two more matches played, Dublin University hold only the slenderest of chances of finishing on top, and they will have a severe task to-morrow to take the points from Clontarf at Castle avenue. The home side will be at full strength, whereas Trinity will be without some of their regulars during vacation. Still, the University have done some surprising things, and they may bring off a win this time, but the odds are on Clontarf, who also have an outside chance of honours.

Pembroke, in third place jointly with Phœnix, should not have undue difficulty in disposing of Civil Service; but Phœnix, heavily handicapped by the absence of J. C. Boucher, and lacking, also, the services of their captain, D. R. Pigot, may have their hands full against the stubborn Y.M.C.A team at Claremont road.

HIGH STANDARD OF JUMPING
Faultless Round by Silvy

CLOSE on 200 horses competed in the five jumping events and children's riding class in the Jumping Enclosure of the Royal Dublin Society at Ballsbridge, yesterday. A particularly high standard was set by many of the competitors, but the outstanding performances during the five and a quarter hours were those of Mrs. E. H. Talbot's Silvy, Major-General L. Hayes's Snowstorm, and Lt.-Colonel J. Hume-Dudgeon's Sea Spray.

The most distinguished display of the lot was, however, that given by Silvy, in Competition "C," over seven fly-fences, one of which was composed of triple in-and-out poles, a novel kind of jump, that was too much for a large proportion of the competitors and their riders.

Silvy, however, ridden by Mr. B. Sterling Barry, never once put a foot astray. For three rounds there was nothing whatever between the grey and Snowstorm, but on the fourth and deciding circuit the latter had four faults and Silvy finished with an unblemished record, Mr. R. McElligott's Little Nell, who had two faultless rounds, being third.

Snowstorm then turned out in another big field for Competition D, in which he negotiated the two rounds perfectly, so that altogether he had five "Zeros."

Sea Spray, stylishly ridden by Miss K. Hume Dudgeon, had a comparatively easy win in Competition A, over the regular course; and Mr. M. J. Forrest's Lucky Strike, after a tie on the first round, beat Mr. Anthony Scannell's Patience on the jump-off.

There was excellent jumping and riding in Competition B, for ponies ridden by children, and which Senator W. Quirke's South Tipp, ridden by Master M. Quirke, enhanced his reputation with two high-class and faultless exhibitions, Pixie, ridden by his owner (Kevin O'Dwyer), being beaten by one fault only.

COMPETITION A—Over the course. Winner, £20; second, £15; third, £10, fourth, £5.

Lt.-Col. J. Hume Dudgeon's Sea Spray (Miss K. Hume Dudgeon), 1; Mr. T. M'D. Key's Silvertip (Owner), Mr. S. O'Dwyer's Rahin (Major O'Dwyer), and Mrs. E. Egan's Dartry (Mr. K. Byrne) divided second, third and fourth prizes. 42 competed.

COMPETITION B—Over special course, ridden by children. Winner, £10; second, £6; third, £4; fourth, £3.

Senator W. Quirke's South Tipp (Master M. Quirke), 1; Master K O'Dwyer's Pixie (Owner), 2; Miss M. Bergin's Bondyenny (Owner), 3. Miss P. O'Malley's Dinkie (Owner), Miss D. Robinson's Worthy Buck (Miss C. O'Neill), and Miss J. Bradbury's Timmy (Owner) divided fourth prize.

COMPETITION C—Over special course of fly fences. Winner, £20; second, £15; third, £10; fourth, £5.

Mrs. E. H. Talbot's Silvy (Mr. B. Sterling Barry), 1; Major-General L. Hayes' Snowstorm (Mr. S. Hayes), 2; Mr. R. McElligott's Little Nell (Owner), 3; Lieut.-Col. J. Hume Dudgeon's Dick (Miss P. Hildebrand), 4. 52 competed.

COMPETITION D—Over the course, with two additional fly fences. Winner, £20; second, £15; third, £10; fourth, £5.

Major-General L. Hayes' Snowstorm (Mr. S. Hayes), 1; Mr. R. Collen's Bounder (Mr. W. Gilmore), 2; Mr. R. G. Garland's Rainbow Chaser (Mr. J. Bryson) and Mr. M. J. Forrest's Brown Boy (Mr. A. Scannell) divided third and fourth prizes. 53 competed.

COMPETITION E (Youth)—Over special course, all fly fences. Winner, £15; second, £10; third, £5.

Mr. M. J. Forrest's Lucky Strike (Miss F. Shaw), 1; Mr. A. Scannell's Patience (Mr. R. Hayes), 2; Miss O. Haughton's Mollie (Owner), 3. Nine competed.

MUSICAL CHAIRS (Children)—Miss M. Gallagher's Patch (Miss C. Duffy).

CHILDREN'S RIDING—Miss R. Tonson Rye's Jack-the-Ripper (Owner), 1; Miss Barbara Faloon's Golden Lass (Owner), 2; Senator W. Quirke's South Tipp (Michael Quirke), 3.

Brewery Pays Larger Bonus: Net Profits Rise

MORE evidence of the prosperity of the brewery industry was given yesterday, when Watney Combe, Reid and Co., Ltd., announced an increase of 2 per cent. to 20 per cent. in its distribution for the year on its Deferred Ordinary stock.

For each of the two previous years payments had been 4 p.c. interim, 11 p.c. final, and 3 p.c. bonus—a total of 18 p.c. The interim payment for the year to June 30th last was raised to 6 p.c., but, in making the announcement, the directors stated that "the increase must not be taken as implying that the dividend for the full year will be raised"; the intention being the evening-up of payments.

The increase announced yesterday comes, therefore, as a welcome surprise.

The final dividend is 9 p.c., thus maintaining the dividend at 15 p.c., but the bonus is increased to 5 p.c., making a total of 20 p.c. for the year, against 18 p.c. previously.

Net profits were £941,299, against £847,835 in the previous year. The company is one of the largest in the industry. Its issued capital is £8,340,759. It has breweries at Pimlico, Mortlake and Isleworth. Of its capital £3,247,759 is in £1 Ordinary units, the price of which rose 3s. yesterday to 87s. 6d., at which they offer a yield of £4 11s. 9d. p.c. cumulative dividend.

RUBBER SHARES

There has been a decided slackening-off in the demand for Rubber Plantation shares, and, in consequence, prices are hesitant. A reaction at this stage should not be deemed surprising, since values have now been advancing for some weeks and substantial profits are available to earlier purchasers.

So far the easier tendency has not affected all issues, and several bright features have developed, notwithstanding the surrounding trend.

It would be prudent, nevertheless, to anticipate a general easing off in quotations during the next week or two.

For one thing the jobbers themselves would welcome the opportunity of depressing prices so as to attract sellers and thus give them a chance of balancing their books.

Nevertheless, a major reaction is not to be expected at the present juncture. Post-war stocks are very much in the public eye just now, and will probably become even more popular as the European stage enters its final scene.

BRICK INDUSTRY

Confidence in the after-war outlook for the brick industry is reflected in the strength of Marston Valley Brick 5s. units, which have risen to 12s. 6d. lately, despite absence of current dividend. About mid-June the price weakened to 9s. 6d. on the passing of the dividend for 1943-44. The accounts showed that only 2 per cent. had been earned on the Ordinary capital. Previous year's payment was 3 per cent., against 6 per cent. for each of the two preceding years.

The shares are now at their highest since 1936, when they attained 15s., but then they were on a 20 per cent. dividend basis. Present value indicates that many investors nowadays no longer bother about dividends and yields. They are going for post-war appreciation, but it is doubtful whether in this particular case much scope is left for further improvement.

TAXES AND PROFITS

Although the final dividend of Threlfall's Brewery is the same as in previous years, the chairman, Major C. M. Threlfall, told the shareholders at the annual meeting yesterday that the question of bringing the interim dividend more into line with the final dividend will be kept under consideration. Mr. T. E. Binsted said he was greatly surprised to hear that the company had paid out in taxation the enormous sum of £3,250,000. The net profit was only £339,000, so the Government got a very nice slice out of the business.

Further Rise in Bank Shares

QUIET conditions prevailed on the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday, but prices, generally, presented a firm appearance. The main feature was the strength of Banking shares, Provincials rising 1s. 3d. to 51s., whilst Nationals continued their recent advance and closed 6d. higher at 51s.

Home Funds were steady, and prices showed only fractional alterations; while, among British Funds, 3½ per cent. War Loan advanced to 104, and 2½ per cent. Consols gained 12s. 6d. to 79⅞. Guinness Ord. were a firm spot at 137s.

Among Rails, G.N.R. Ord. rose to 25½, but G.S.R. Ord. lost a point to 56, while the 4 per cent. Pref. dropped 20s. to 55 (small). The 4 per cent. Gtd. lost 10s. to 73½.

Alliance Gas Ord. firmed up 3d. to 23s. 9d., Pim Bros. Ord. rose 6d. to 11s., and Todd Burns Ord. 9d. to 15s. 9d.

British Industrials were neglected. Dunlop Ord. were quoted higher at 50s. 4½d., while Courtaulds fell 4½d. to 59s.

News In Brief

Unlicensed Salmon Vendor. — Rosanna Shortall, Smyth's villas, York road, Dun Laoghaire, and Esther Moran, O'Donnell Gardens, Glasthule, were fined 10/-, with £2 5/6 costs, by District Justice Mangan, Dublin, yesterday, for having exposed salmon for sale, without having had a licence.

Coat Worn at Races.—Mary Duffy, described as a nurse, Upper Mount street, was sentenced to two months' imprisonment by District Justice McCann, Dublin, yesterday, for stealing a woman's coat. The owner stated that the coat disappeared from a hotel where she was staying, in Dublin, and that she saw Mary Duffy wearing it at Phœnix Park races on Wednesday.

To Relieve Ratepayers. — That the City Council is of the opinion that the Dublin ratepayers should be relieved entirely of the cost of administering some of the services, institutions and schemes for which they are at present responsible is suggested in a motion to be moved by Councillor F. Burke at Monday's meeting of the Dublin Corporation. He further suggests that, in view of the burdens imposed on ratepayers, the State contribution should be reviewed immediately.

Lock-up Shop Broken Into.—Patrick Foran and Denis Murtagh, both of no business, and of Summerhill, were remanded on bail by District Justice McCann, Dublin, yesterday, charged, Foran, with having broken into a lock-up shop at Summerhill and stolen property valued at £90, with receiving the property and with illegal possession of it; and Murtagh, with having assisted him, and having received shoes and blankets.

London Market Features

AN easier trend and inactivity on the London Stock Exchange yesterday was influenced by levelling-up of books approaching the week-end, but buyers found no large volume of stock offering.

Further marked progress was made by China bonds, the 4½ p.c. adding £5 at £74. Poland 4½ p.c. was marked down 3 to 41 on apparent difficulty of negotiations with the Soviet.

A jump of 3s. 9d. in Watney Def. to 88s. reflected the increased distribution for the year. The yield is £4 14s. p.c.

Late weakness of Motors, especially Austin "A" at 31s. 9d. (down 1s. 3d.), was due to the Austin chairman's statement of inability to build up adequate resources to cover the changeover to peace time work.

Oil shares were the centre of speculation. Attock (74s. 3d.), on hopes of a possible offer, and Ultramar (77s. 3d.) both added 2s. 3d. Russian Oils came to life.

Continued stream of selling from Johannesburg of Consolidated Diamond Ordinary (33s. 6d.), depressing price at one time to 32s. 9d., was attributed by arbitraguers to liquidation of old overbought positions.

DRAWING OF 4½ PER CENT. LAND BONDS

The Minister for Finance announces that for the purpose of the application of the sinking fund moneys of the Land Bond Fund, a draw of Registered 4½ p.c. Land Bonds (British Government Guaranteed Series) will be held at the National City Bank, Limited, Dublin, on October 16th, 1944, and subsequent days, if necessary.

The amount of Sinking Fund moneys available for the purposes of the forthcoming draw is £116,320. These Bonds will be paid off at par, together with all interest accrued due, on and after January 1st, 1945.

The amount of Registered 4½ p.c. Land Bonds now outstanding is £21,968,703.

COMPANY MEETING.

SCRIBBANS AND CO., LTD.
LARGER TURNOVER AND PROFITS

The seventeenth annual general meeting of Scribbans and Co., Ltd., was held yesterday in London. Mr. Louis Nicholas, J.P., (vice-chairman), presided, and read the statement of the chairman (Mr. Philip E. Hill), which had been circulated with the report and accounts, as follows:—

Notwithstanding the difficulties under which your company and its subsidiaries have been working during the past year owing to shortage of material and labour and the Government restrictions, I am pleased to report that the turnover in most cases has been increased. Profits have also increased, but the incidence of taxation (excess profits tax and income tax) has reduced the net profits available to approximately £35,040 in excess of those of last year.

Our investments in subsidiary companies show an increase of some £276,000, which is accounted for by our acquisition during the year of the whole of the Ord. and part of the Redeemable Pref. shares in Meesons, Ltd., Manchester, which company carries on the business of retailing sugar confectionery in a large number of shops in the northern part of England.

The directors propose to pay the same final dividends upon both classes of shares as last year, and place to general reserve £25,000, carrying forward £64,478 — an increase of £4,900. Taking into account this £25,000 and the £64,478 to be carried forward, the company's total reserves will stand at £439,478. This is, apart from the reserve, made for future taxation.

Your companies are still operating under conditions which are severely restricted both in regard to materials available for manufacture; the manpower available, and the restriction of the sale of the products to a limited area. As far as is permitted to us, your company and its subsidiaries continue to serve both the forces and the various Government Departments in every way.

The report was adopted.

THE ABBEY THEATRE

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES

SIR,—You intimated in your columns some time ago that you expected a statement of policy from the directors of the Abbey Theatre. This wondrously promising, if not, indeed, compromising document, seems so far to have eluded publication, unless, of course, we are seriously expected to consider as a "statement of policy" the remarks of a member of the Board of directors to the effect that the Abbey has often before been the centre of controversy, and that it is the intention of the Board of directors to ignore these criticisms in the confidence that the storm will pass over — and, incidentally, though the director concerned does not, of course, say it, will leave them free to blunder blindly along until the Abbey Theatre is no more—in short, that they intend to remain in a condition which Mr. Liam Redmond in a very excellent letter describes as one of complacent vanity.

Might I suggest, therefore, that there is no defence for the Abbey Theatre at the moment? A statement of policy by way of defence hardly seems possible. There is no defence for the choice of bad plays. It can only be accounted for by a self-condemnation on the score of ignorance or blind stupidity. Bear in mind, sir, that the fact that many of the plays are bad is not an arbitrary opinion on my part or on the part of anyone else, but one which has been implemented, as Mr. Redmond pointed out, by players and public alike.

As long as public monies are being poured into the Abbey there is no defence for the under-payment of artists.

There is no defence for a board which consists, with one exception, of men who "are not of the theatre" apparently riding rough-shod over artists who are entirely dependent on it. In short, there is no defence for the deterioration of the Anglo-Irish theatre, or for the utter failure of the "re-organised" Gaelic theatre. It is, in any event, impossible that the admirable idea of founding a Gaelic theatre can be realised under these conditions. Taking, therefore, the disintegration of the Abbey Theatre as being almost a fait accompli, the pertinent question seems to be, not a change of policy on the part of the present board, but a choice of one of three courses:

(1) An endeavour to resuscitate the old Abbey by a drastic re-constitution of the board of directors. So much of the old tradition has already died that this would not seem likely to be crowned with any worth-while degree of success.

(2) The creation of a new theatre on the foundations of the old, in other words a complete reform of the Abbey as we know it. This also necessarily entails the elimination of the present board of directors.

(3) The foundation, with the vast amount of talent which is available, of a completely new Irish theatre for the production of Anglo-Irish plays and suitable European drama, and a distinct and separate, though necessarily complementary, Gaelic theatre. Thus we must, albeit with reluctance, leave the Abbey without plays, without players, without direction, without the grant of public moneys, to dwindle slowly and peacefully to its end in Marlborough street.

It is of paramount importance that a start must be made at once. Public moneys have been poured into this decadent organisation for far too long. Surely it is now time that they were directed into a channel which would encourage that vitality, ability, enthusiasm, initiative and ambition of which the present Abbey Theatre is so sadly bereft.—Yours, etc., MICHAEL CLARKE.

NATIONAL PLANNING

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES

SIR,—As many inquiries continue to reach my Committee regarding the future of the National Planning Exhibition, will you kindly permit me to say?

1. That a section of the exhibition, by courtesy of the Royal Dublin Society, is displayed in connection with the Taylor Art Competition, which opened at Ballsbridge to-day, and

2. That arrangements have been made for sections of the exhibition to appear in central premises in Dublin in the early autumn, and that negotiations are proceeding for its reproduction in other cities.—Yours, etc.,

GEORGE LENNON,
Hon. Secretary,
The National Planning Conference,
32 Nassau street, Dublin.

THE WANDERING JEW

One of the minor problems that are likely to give much trouble to the architects of the brave new world after the war is the future of the Jews in Palestine. For the Jewish people this is no minor problem. On the contrary, their whole future existence is on the hazard; and their need for some kind of national home is infinitely greater to-day than it was twenty-six years ago, when the historic Balfour Declaration raised high hopes in their hearts. Many peoples have suffered bitterly during the last ten or twelve years; none has undergone a more grievous experience than the Jews. In virtually every country of the European continent, with the sole exception of Russia, there has been a wave of anti-Semitism of greater or less intensity. There can be no doubt, unhappily, that in some cases this anti-Jewish feeling has assumed violent forms. A defenceless people has suffered appalling casualties; and, when the war comes to an end, very large numbers of Jews will find themselves without any apparent hope for the future. We admit that it is a difficult, if not, indeed, an insoluble problem. Anti-Semitism has its roots deeply embedded in European history. All down the ages there has been prejudice against the Jewish race, and this prejudice, in turn, has created among the Jews a resentful spirit, which often has manifested itself in an aggressive way, thus strengthening and embittering the prejudice against them, and setting up a vicious circle which has been largely responsible for the exceedingly difficult situation that exists to-day. It is quite certain that the development of the late Lord Balfour's idea of a Jewish national home in Palestine will not solve the problem of the Jews' future throughout the world. Nevertheless, both the British and the American Governments have accepted a certain measure of responsibility in the matter. The present plan, presumably, is to continue the Palestinian experiment. At the moment there are hundreds of thousands of destitute and desperate Jews in various parts of Europe. In 1939 there was an arrangement whereby during the period of five years to March, 1944, 75,000 Jews should be allowed to settle in Palestine. The actual number has been only 44,000. Consequently, there are at least 31,000 European Jews who but for the exigencies of war transport and other fortuitous circumstances, would have been entitled before now to make their homes in the storied land of their fathers.

It is easy to say that the entire Jewish people ought to be enabled and encouraged to emigrate to Palestine; but this is a counsel of perfection. For one thing, all the Jews do not want to emigrate; for another, there would not be room for them. We have little sympathy with those extreme Zionists who have an almost chauvinistic sense of Jewish nationality. There are certain facts that must be faced when one is dealing with the problem of Palestine; chief among them is the almost fanatical enmity of the entire Arab race. During the present war, it has become painfully obvious that the Arabs have abated no whit of their original demand for a complete and unshared suzerainty over all Arab territory, including the territory of Palestine. Only a few days ago a determined attempt was made on the life of Sir Harold MacMichael, British High Commissioner in Jerusalem; and such order as exists in the mandated area depends almost exclusively upon the strength of British arms. Yesterday, there was further evidence of Arab hostility to the project of a Jewish national home. Nahas Pasha, the Egyptian Premier, announced in the Senate at Cairo that he had protested to the British Labour Party concerning its Executive Committee's recent reports on Zionism, adding that "we cannot but protest with all the energy at our disposal against the scheme to make Palestine purely Jewish and Zionist." Nahas Pasha also has sent a protest to both the Democratic and Republican Parties in the United States, objecting to their public policies regarding the Jews. Referring to the alleged desire of the British Labour Party "to chase Arabs from Palestine," the Egyptian Premier said that such a settlement, if it ever should be realised, or even adopted in principle, would arouse the entire Arab world against the Jews, and lead to complete loss of faith in the idea of justice. The Egyptians may be expected to adopt constitutional methods; no such methods are likely to be taken by their kinsfolk in other Arabian lands. It is a sad fact, but a fact that must be faced by everybody concerned, that hostility to the Jews in general, and particularly to the plan for a national home in Palestine, has been growing rather than decreasing among the Arab people during recent years. The civilised world cannot ignore a moral responsibility towards a race that has made such notable contributions towards human progress, and has suffered so much at the hands of its oppressors. How that responsibility is to be fulfilled constitutes a task that will impose a terrific strain upon statesmen.

Costly Dying

The disposal of the dead, one of the most important matters of study for the archæologist in his examination of ancient communities, has not lost its importance in modern society. Not many people can afford a tomb on the scale of the Mausoleum, or the mighty Pyramids of Egypt; but almost all are concerned, in some measure, to secure for themselves a fitting burial. Sir William Beveridge—as our London correspondent mentioned the other day—did not omit, in the monumental report which bears his name, to consider the effect of this sentiment on the ordinary working-class family. Every housewife is determined that, for her own people, the disgrace of a "pauper's funeral" shall be avoided. Week after week, however small her means, she makes her payment to the insurance man. Whoever else has to be staved off or to go without his money, that one payment cannot be missed; for it will ensure that everything is "done decent" when a member of the family dies. It is true, unfortunately, that into the whole matter there enters something like competition. As the suburban housewife "keeps up with the neighbours" in the matter of fur coats and new curtains, so the slum-dweller is moved to outstrip in magnificence the neighbours' funerals. Even the maintenance of the ordinary standard, by the payment of the accepted insurance premium, is a severe strain on the finances of a household which may depend on public relief for its whole income. It is easy to dismiss the sentiment that prompts this service to the dead, at the expense of the living, as "barbarous," and to mutter cynical phrases about "ancestor worship." What is not so easy is to suggest a means by which the burden may be lightened, without offending a feeling which, after all, has its roots in personal and religious emotion. The National Association of Cemetery and Crematorium Superintendents in Britain urges the assumption of all functions relating to the disposal of the dead by local authorities, in the interests of "decency and economy." Sir William Beveridge recommended the institution of compulsory insurance at sixpence a week, with a resultant burial benefit of £25 for every citizen. The latter suggestion, we feel, is infinitely preferable. There is no loss of prestige in accepting a benefit which, like the children's allowances, is available for rich and poor alike, and for which all pay the same contribution. Perhaps the idea merits consideration, if not as an urgent, at least as a desirable reform.

THE Archbishop of Dublin and Mrs. Barton and party are staying at the Greenlands Hotel, Rosses Point, Sligo.

Among those present at the Royal Dublin Society's Show yesterday were Sir Frederick and Lady Moore, the Hon. Mrs. H. C. Alexander and Lady Maffey.

SUR-TAX AND EXCESS SUR-TAX

In our advertising columns, the Special Commissioners of Income Tax call the attention of those liable to payment of sur-tax or excess sur-tax to the fact that they should lodge full particulars of their incomes from all sources for the year ending April 5th, 1944, with the Special Commissioners before September 30th, 1944.

REWARDS FOR BRAVERY

At yesterday's meeting of the Dublin Port and Docks Board, the Chairman, Mr. T. O'Connor, said that a letter had been received from the Department of the Taoiseach, acknowledging the receipt of the Board's resolution regarding the establishment of a national society for the recognition of acts of bravery. He added that this was all that could be done at present.

SALE OF ROSEBORO', NAAS

The sale of Roseboro', Johnstown, Naas, caused unusual interest. The auction which was held yesterday, was largely attended. The bidding, which was very keen, started at £5,000, and rose in a very short time to £9,100, at which figure Roseboro' changed hands. The auctioneers were Messrs. Hamilton and Hamilton, 17 Dawson street, Dublin.

ART FROM THE CONTINENT

DUBLIN EXHIBITION

THE urgent necessity for the holding of such an exhibition as that of Modern Continental Art, organised by the Friends of the National Collections, which opened yesterday, becomes evident if we recall that it is over thirty years since that valiant fighter for all good causes, the late Mrs. James Duncan, Curator of the Municipal Gallery, organised the first big exhibition of the kind in Dublin; and that, since then, only one other (organised by Messrs. Paul Henry and Arthur Power) has been held. Which is strange. For it is admitted everywhere that since the great schools of the seventeenth century there has been nothing in European art at once so vital in feeling and so comprehensive in range as Parisian painting during the three-quarters of a century since the foundation of the Third Republic. Perhaps it was that, like the men of the sixteenth century in Northern Europe who were too busy fighting religious wars to produce religious art, so we were too interested in the fight for Hugh Lane's French pictures which London stole from us to take an interest in French pictures themselves.

If that be the explanation, it is fortunate for us now that a few Irish art lovers had more sense; for at this exhibition we are privileged to see choice works lent by discriminating individual collectors such as Miss May Guinness, Miss Evie Hone, Mr. C. P. Curran, Mr. R. R. Figgis and others, as well as the beautiful things left by Lane and by Edward Martyn to the National and Municipal Galleries, and others again purchased from the Lane Fund by the National Gallery or purchased for the nation by the Friends of the National Collections.

THREE PICASSOS

In the circumstances of the emergency the exhibition is not, of course, comprehensive. Thus there is only a single small (though extraordinarily brilliant and sympathetic) lithograph by Henri Matisse, whose last pre-war exhibition definitely established him as one of the greatest of all masters in the matter of colour invention, as also in the visual expression of the specifically and eternally French sense of the high comedy of the feminine. And the three Picassos convey no adequate idea of the artist's amazing and often terrifying range of subject matter—though the "Tête d'homme" has the piquant interest of showing the great Spanish rebel teaching academicians their own business.

On a first view, four masters seem to dominate—Degas and Monet amongst the great dead, and Bonnard and Rouault amongst the living. The five magnificent Degas works include a "Peasant Woman," which in its inherent nobility constitutes a lesson to those artists who work on the assumption that the humble, to be of interest, have to be tricked out in highly-coloured trappings; and a "Baigneuse s'essuyant," another act of homage to the visual beauty of life at its most simple. Monet's three great landscapes (and the lovely Sisleys with them) show a similar grave, yet unsentimental, reverence before the beauty of nature. The small Cézanne landscape in oils and the self-portrait drawing reveal those same qualities with even greater breadth of understanding, intensity of observation, power of design and fin. of execution. And, surely, the Berthe Morisot "Corsage Noir" displays as choice a handling of paint as has been seen since Velasquez; while the water-colour sketch for Manet's "Olympe" seems almost as miraculous in its alert and smiling distinction as the great completed work in the Louvre.

WEDDINGS

O'MARA—CARTON.—The wedding took place on Wednesday last at the Church of the Sacred Heart, Donnybrook, of Mr. James O'Mara, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. O'Mara, 81 Merrion road, Dublin, and Miss Ruth Carton, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fonso Carton, 18 Ailesbury road, Dublin. The Rev. Patrick O'Mara, S.J., who officiated, was assisted by the Very Rev. Monsignor Canon Molony, P.P., and the Rev. John McAvoy, S.J. The bridesmaids were Miss Ann Carton (sister of the bride) and Miss Lydia Burke. The train-bearer was Miss Mary Carton (sister of the bride). The best man was Mr. Frankie McKenna. Mr. Hugh Carton (brother of the bride) was groomsman. The wedding was followed by Nuptial Mass, at which a telegram conveying the Papal Blessing was read from the altar. After the wedding the bride's mother gave a reception at the Shelbourne Hotel.

HAGAN—ANDERSON.—Dr. Thomas J. Hagan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hagan, Hill street, Newry, was married yesterday at the Victoria Memorial Hall, Belfast, to Miss Olive A. E. Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Anderson, of Ardtrea House, Stewartstown, Co. Tyrone. Miss Beryl Anderson (sister of the bride) was bridesmaid, and Mr. R. J. Williamson, Ahorey, Portadown, best man. The honeymoon is being spent in the West of Ireland.

MUINTIR NA TIRE RURAL WEEK

Mr. Thomas Derrig, Minister for Education, will be present at Irish Day of Muintir na Tire Rural Week, which begins next Sunday at Kilkenny. Dr Ryan, Minister for Agriculture, also is expected to attend. AN IRISHMAN'S DIARY

Film Lunch

THE city yesterday stirred in her summer sleep, and, for the first time in weeks, provided three helpings of entertainment in the one day.

The first item was a lunch given by Mr. Walter McNally at the Metropole to Mr. Robert Wolff and Mr. Ernest Simon. The second was the jumping competition at Ballsbridge; and the third the opening day of the Loan Exhibition of Modern Continental Paintings in the College of Art.

Mr. McNally's party was a lush film lunch. Mr. Robert Wolff is the managing director of R.K.O. Radio Pictures; Mr. Simon is general sales manager of the same company. They have come to Dublin for business conferences with Mr. McNally. In between conferences they have found time to visit three race meetings since their arrival by plane last Saturday morning. And they hope to be at Phœnix Park for the Fifteen Hundred to-morrow.

Mr. Wolff

Mr. Wolff, who wears a blue bow tie and smooth grey hair, looks as if he is still in the 'forties, though he has been in the film business for thirty-one years.

He started as an usher in the Orient Cinema in New York, a house holding six hundred seats. The Orient is still there, left some way behind by Mr. Wolff. After a short spell as an usher, Mr. Wolff became manager of the Orient, and from there continued upwards, with an interlude as a Marine in the last war.

He came to London as R.K.O. managing director last April.

Mr. Wolff provided the information that Walt Disney, whose films are distributed by his company, and whom he calls "Dizzy," is now making a picture in technicolour, in which the cartoon Donald Duck dances with the flesh and blood Aurora Miranda, sister of the volcanic Carmen. He says that nothing like it has ever been seen before on the screen.

The lunch came to an end some time after three, with the magnates conferring in corners about mergers, cigars in their mouths crossed like hockey-sticks at the bully-off.

On the Bank

At Ballsbridge the jumping enclosure looked lovely. The turf on the banks was like thick green velvet; the white poles gleamed in the sun, surrounded by flowers and neat clipped hedges. There was a fair crowd, dressed, perhaps, in its second best regalia. There were no picture hats or lace parasols.

At the moment of my arrival a horseman was having difficulty with his horse on top of the double bank. Both, in fact, were standing side by side, having separated but a second before. The horseman made several attempts to remount, at one time nearly falling off the bank himself.

As an old stone wall jumper, I made for the paddock at once to see what was doing. (The paddock, by the way, is called "The Assembly Pocket" in the book of rules, but I didn't dare to speak about it like that.)

In the Pocket

In the paddock I asked a man dressed in a bowler hat, checked shirt and scarlet tie with yellow horses' heads, how the system of marking worked in jumping competitions. He said: "I don't know. At least, I don't know how it works in this one."

I said: "What's wrong?" The man in the bowler hat said: "They're penalising you for changing feet on the single bank. If I was hunting I wouldn't risk my life on a bank like that by not changing feet. They're penalising you for going too fast. A daughter of mine lost four marks. She had a thoroughbred pony. It naturally cantered faster than the others. They said the pony was not under control." He made a gesture of complete resignation. "They're penalising you," he went on, "for jumping into the bank with your forelegs. In competitions on the Continent they have a pole on either side of the bank. If you clear the poles, that's all you have to worry about. Here you don't know where you are."

He seized a passer-by in riding breeches and boots. "Tell him what way they're marking here," he said. The stranger disengaged himself. "Do you want to get me into trouble?" he said.

The Other Side

I found one of the judges, and told him about the mutterings round the Pocket. The judge said: "These rules have been in operation for years." I said: "What about changing feet on the single bank?" The judge said: "I don't altogether agree that you shouldn't change feet on the bank. I'd change feet if I was hunting. But if you take a horseman like Joe Dudgeon, he can do it without changing feet with no difficulty. It's a test of horsemanship."

"What about penalising the children for going too fast?" I said. The judge said: "We like to see a pony that is safe for children to ride. If he goes too fast, he simply isn't safe, that's all."

It was rather unsatisfactory. Both sides seem to be confident that they are right. But whatever may be the difficulty about the scoring the jumping itself was most exciting. There is nothing like that moment as the horse picks up speed for the double bank, the quick scramble, the change of feet, and the leap away down the other side. Every competitor has a different style. Some different adventure occurs to every one of them. I could have watched for hours.

The Exhibition

But the Loan Exhibition was also on the list. (Everything comes at once in this city.)

This being invitation day there was plenty of room to move in the College of Art. Liam Redmond was there, and Nora McGuinness, and Dr. Furlong, Miss Evie Hone, and Mr. Freddie Boland, being shown around by Bob Figgis, who has done so much to organise this real landmark in picture exhibitions. His wife, Philippa, has arranged the flowers for the show. She is a pupil of Mrs. Constance Spry, the world's most expert authority on flower decoration.

In the centre of the room are two groups of flowers, white and salmon pink. They stand in two tall white pillars. On a table at the end of the room is another group of flowers, more brilliantly coloured. "Look at that," said C. P. Curran, pointing to this bowl, "look at the decision—the composition—the varying shades . . ."

This is, indeed, a lovely place. Dr. Furlong's hanging is a masterpiece in itself. Here is space and depth and exquisite good taste. Wherever you look there is something beautiful, perfect and complete.

If I wasn't a man accustomed to horses I should have more to say about the pictures.

QUIDNUNC.

ARCHBISHOP DOWNEY

The Most Rev. Dr. Downey, Archbishop of Liverpool, who is visiting Dublin, yesterday morning called on Sir John Maffey, the British Representative in Eire. In the afternoon he attended the jumping competitions at Ballsbridge, accompanied by Dr. A. W. Conway, President of the Royal Dublin Society and of University College, Dublin.

This morning he will call upon the Lord Mayor of Dublin, Alderman Martin O'Sullivan, T.D. Later he will visit the Taoiseach, Mr. de Valera, and Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly, at Government Buildings.

IRISH WILLS

Robert Simon Hogan, Senior, Counsel, Morehampton road, Dublin, £4,724 (gross in Eire); Gerard Gough, Naas road, Inchicore, £1,335 (gross in Eire); Patrick Carron, Emer terrace, Dundalk, £1,699 (gross in Eire).

Mr. Thomas Bell Smith, 112 Blythe street, Belfast, £3,050 (Britain); Mrs. Edith Green, Somerton, Roebuck road, Clonskeagh, Co. Dublin, wife of Herbert J. F. Green, dental surgeon, £5,887 (Britain); Miss Caroline Anne Shaw, Arnsbeag, Templeogue road, Terenure, Dublin, £2,898 (Britain).

SCHOOLBOYS ON THEFT CHARGES IN DUBLIN

Six schoolboys, aged between 11 and 13, appeared before District Justice McCarthy in the Children's Court, Dublin, yesterday, on sixteen charges of housebreaking and larceny during the past few months.

The boys are alleged to have stolen approximately £350 worth of property, including £240 worth of clothing from Linco Services, Ltd., Lincoln place, and damaged three premises to the amount of £50.

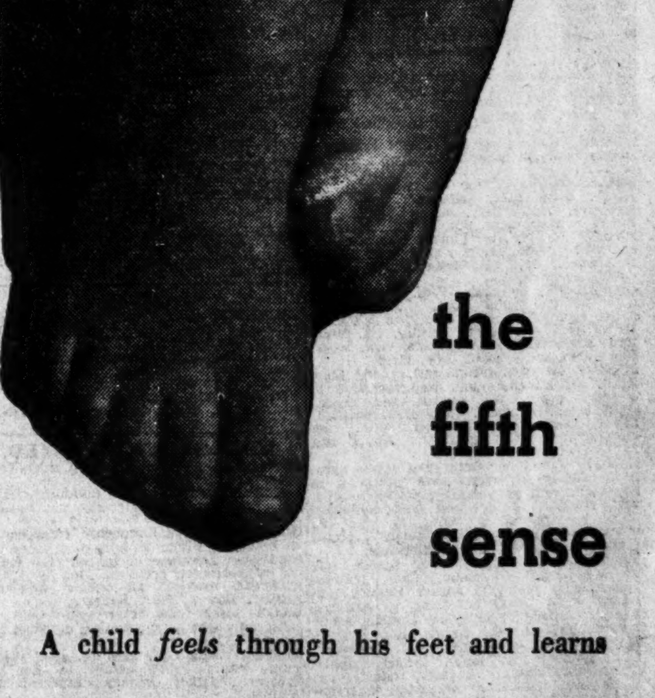

Two of the accused were charged with having stolen over 100 cakes and pastries valued at £8 from Bolands, Ltd., Grand Canal quay, and four were alleged to have stolen 60 tooth brushes, shaving sticks, ointment, etc., from Burco Products.

Three of the accused, who were arrested on housebreaking charges while on remand, were remanded for a week in custody. The other three were allowed out on bail.

TWO MEN CHARGED WITH CATTLE STEALING

Michael Quigley, labourer, stated to be a native of Coole, Newport, Co. Tipperary, and William Leahy, labourer, stated to be a native of Friary place, Kilkenny, were, at Kilmainham yesterday, remanded in custody for a week on a charge of stealing 24 bullocks value £600, the property of Mr. Brendan Hand, farmer, Corballis, Donabate, Co. Dublin. When charged and cautioned, Quigley said: "I have nothing to say. I have made a statement." Leahy stated: "I didn't steal the cattle. I was only working for him."

Telegraphic Error.—Owing to an error in telegraphing, Messrs. Hearne and Cahill—instead of Messrs. Hearne and Company's cabinet factory, Waterford—was given as the name of the firm which it was feared might have to close down owing to the refusal of the Minister for Industry and Commerce to issue a licence for the usual monthly supply of anthracite.

GOVERNMENT NOTICES.

SUR-TAX AND EXCESS SUR-TAX, 1943-44.

SUR-TAX.

Under the provisions of the Income Tax Acts it is the duty of every individual whose total Income from all sources for the year ended 5th April, 1944, exceeded £1,500, to give notice thereof to the Special Commissioners of Income Tax before 30th September, 1944.

Every such individual who has neither given the required notice nor received a form of Sur-Tax return for the year 1943/44 from the Special Commissioners of Income Tax should, before 30th September, 1944, communicate in writing with their Clerk at The Castle, Dublin, from whom the form of return may be obtained.

EXCESS SUR-TAX.

It is the duty of every individual, whose total income for the year ended 5th April, 1944, included profits from any trade or business to which the provisions of Part I. of the Finance Act, 1943, relating to Excess Sur-tax apply, to give notice thereof to the Special Commissioners of Income Tax before 30th September, 1944, if his profits from the trade or business, as computed in accordance with the said provisions, were not less than £2,500 and exceeded the standard profits, and his total income for the year ended 5th April, 1944, computed in accordance with the said provisions, exceeded the standard total income.

Every such individual who has neither given the required notice nor received a form of Excess Sur-Tax return for the year 1943/44 from the Special Commissioners of Income Tax should, before 30th September, 1944, communicate in writing with their Clerk at The Castle, Dublin, from whom the form of return may be obtained.

The Fresh Milk Way is Best ...

Baby needs FRESH cow's milk, but cannot always digest it, because it contains more casein than breast-milk does.

There is a natural way to "modify" the milk and make the casein perfectly digestible. It is to add a simple cereal product, embodied in SISTER LAURAS FOOD, it is not a dried milk. It "modifies" cow's milk, and enriches, without diluting it. Doctors and Nurses have tested and endorsed this for over 30 years.

His SCIATICA has Never Returned

"I've finished with sciatica," says Mr. Faulkner. He's probably right, too. It's four years since he last had it. What did he take for it? Let him tell you:—

"For 18 months I suffered with chronic sciatica and rheumatism," he writes, "and was unable to walk without the aid of a stick. But after taking Kruschen Salts for a short time, I was able to throw away the stick. It is now 4 years since this happened, and I have had no return of the complaint, and have not lost a day from work. I shall never be without Kruschen Salts as they are worth their weight in gold. You can use this letter as you please, as I can honestly recommend Kruschen Salts to any sufferer."—C. Faulkner.

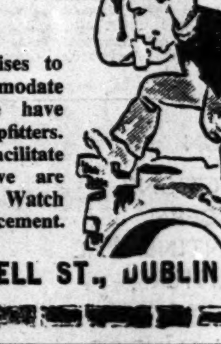

The first and most important step in the treatment of rheumatic complaints is to keep the bowels open and the kidneys well flushed. Kruschen does that in the simplest, safest way, because it has a two-fold action—laxative and diuretic as well.

Harmful acids and poisons that give rise to rheumatism and sciatica are washed away through the kidneys. The bowels are gently encouraged to work naturally and regularly. The result is a speedy end to those weary aches and pains.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable of all Chemists, price 1/9 per bottle.

INDIGESTION
Playing tricks? Rennies will end it in a couple of ticks!

Are you one of those people that indigestion picks on just occasionally? Or are you the regular sufferer, who knows to his cost that the grinding, grumbling pain is there almost all of the time? In either case, there's no need to put up with the situation —let Rennies take it in hand.

These pleasant-tasting tablets have indigestion troubles taped. You simply suck two, one after the other, just like sweets. Rennies are separately wrapped, so that you can carry them loose in your pocket or handbag. When indigestion strikes you're ready for it.

With acid neutralized, pain, flatulence and discomfort are just no more. You feel a new person and food is something you look forward to, not dread.

Get Rennies from your chemist's today. If they don't relieve your indigestion, it's high time you saw your doctor about it. 25 tablets for 7d., 100 for 2/-.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE
without Calomel and you'll jump out of bed in the morning full of vim and vigour. The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.
Laxative helps a little, but a mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes these good old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 1/3 and 3/-.
